Easy on the eye

Weddings = weepy eyes. Waterproof mascara is a no-brainer but what about the rest of your eye make-up? Rest assured that not even an over-zealous opening shower of champagne will shift whatever's on top of Cargo's HD Eye Shadow Primer, £14. Also tear-friendly are Ombre Couture shadow pots by Givenchy, £18. They glide on like a dream and stay intact until you finally face your cleansing wipe; Rose Illusion is the Y&YW fave.

EYE DO!

Here's a flatters-your-wedding-dress look to copy from the spring catwalks – glittery golden eyes as seen at Jason Wu. Make-up artist Caroline Barnes unveils her Midas touch:

- Choose your gold shade to suit your skintone. The paler your skin, the lighter the shade.
- Try fine glitter in the corner of the eye or centre of the lid for a flash of light when you blink.
- Sweep gold shadow across lids and under lower lashes before applying the glitter on top.
- Gently pressed-on masking tape will lift away any spills.

Treat yourself to... an oxygen facial

AT HOME Karin Herzog Oxygen Hyalu Lift Serum, £120; Bliss Triple Oxygen Ex-Glow'sion Moisture Cream, £55
OR AWAY SkinW1 Intraceuticals Oxygen Infusion with Dr Rabia Malik, from £150, one hour
 Touted as a major radiance booster I was keen to see how effective this non-invasive facial could be. In beautiful clinical surroundings my skin was deep cleansed then saturated with active ingredients like wrinkle-slaying, skin-plumping hyaluronic acid via an oxygen infusion. I emerged with smoother, clearer skin that appeared more 'lifted'. With no scary side effects, and Dr Malik's calming manner (not to mention expertise), this would make an ideal pre-ceremony dream-skin treat. blissworld.co.uk/skinw1.com
